

Rebecca Walker

Associate Coach, growpeople

Rebecca spent over twenty years in the world of PR and communications, working as both a reputation management practitioner and a Talent Director. She is now an executive coach and trainer for talent in the media world and beyond.

Her last agency Board role was Director of People for Fishburn Hedges, a consultancy which won multiple accolades and awards as an employer while she was in this role. Rebecca helped create a culture where talent was nurtured, performance impressive and retention was high. She coached many individuals as they reached new challenges in their career, from managing teams for the first time through to joining the Board.

Rebecca has also been a valued mentor for Fishburn Hedges' sister organisations within the BBDO group.

Having worked at Board level with FTSE 100 clients, Rebecca understands the commercial pressures of business life and has helped many people navigate and thrive in this environment.

Rebecca's coach training has been undertaken through the highly-regarded Academy of Executive Coaching.
